Headline:
Turning unsettled and showery this weekend and into next week.

Today:
Dry and bright initially, any mist and fog dissipating rapidly. However it'll become increasingly cloudy, with showers or prolonged rain moving north across all parts, heavy at times, particularly during the afternoon. Rather warm but feeling humid. Maximum temperature 19 deg C (66 deg F).

Tonight:
Generally dull and murky with extensive low cloud, mist and fog patches. Some outbreaks of drizzle at times. Low cloud perhaps breaking up around dawn, with sunny spells developing. Minimum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Sunday:
Sunshine and showers, these frequent and occasionally heavy with a risk of thunder. Showers perhaps merging into longer spells of rain later. Warm though feeling humid. Cooler along the coast. Maximum temperature 23 deg C (73 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Further showers on Monday, occasionally heavy. Cloudy with prolonged rain on Tuesday, occasionally heavy. Cooler. Breezy, mostly cloudy with outbreaks of rain on Wednesday, frequent in the west.
